

Which area supermarket will be the first to kick butts?

Wegmans—a Rochester-based supermarket chain—has already kicked butts. They no longer sell tobacco products. DeCicco's and Budwey's—two other New York-based markets—decided to stop selling tobacco, too.

Our local supermarkets pride themselves on supporting families and community health. Yet they sell tobacco products that, even when used in moderation, will kill 1 out of 2 people who smoke.

When will area supermarkets put health before profits by kicking butts?

We, the undersigned, want to know.

Signed

JEANNE WALSH
Eastern Division Executive Vice President
Upstate NY
American Cancer Society

RUSSELL SCIANDRA
Director
Center for a Tobacco Free New York

MICHAEL SEILBACK
Senior Director of Public Policy
& Advocacy
American Lung Association of New York State

ERIN SINISGALLI
President
New York State Public
Health Association

LUCY PULITZER
Executive Director
Community Cradle

KATHY TABORA
President
South American Spanish Association

JUDY RIGHTMYER
Director
Capital District Tobacco-Free Coalition

GINO J. PAZZAGLINI
President / CEO
Seton Health / St. Mary's Hospital

KEVIN O'FLAHERTY
Director of Advocacy
Campaign for Tobacco-Free Kids

MARTHA C. KENNEDY
President
League of Women Voters of NYS

VICTOR GIULIANELLI
President / CEO
St. Mary's Hospital at Amsterdam

SCHOHARIE COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY
Roy Korn, MD
President of the Schoharie County
Medical Society

JULIANNE HART CANFIELD
NYS Director of Advocacy
American Heart Association

AMY BEVERIDGE
Project Director
Rural Three for Tobacco Free
Communities

JANINE STUCHIN
Program Manager
Southern Adirondack Tobacco
Free Coalition

CATHY LAMAY
Program Director
Greater Adirondack Perinatal
Network and School Beat Healthy
Heart Program